You can be anything you want to be, you can, but why is it then that many people end up being nothing but average. It seems as though people do not reflect and act upon that point but just keep on persisting on the path that they don't want to live in, but they just continue to do the same things day after day because that is all they know.

"I can tolerate anything except the outgroup." Doesn't sound quite so noble now, does it? X. We started by asking: millions of people are conspicuously praising every outgroup they can think of, while conspicuously condemning their own in-group. This seems contrary to what we know about social psychology.
